

WMPC

Electric & Water Supply Control Panel

quick return on investment

WMPC defines a range of combined electric/water supply control panels suitable for building sites to be incorporated into WETMIX™ mortar mixers. They consist of an electrical part and a water supply part for controlling electric loads (mixer, pump, vibrator and auxiliary devices), as well as for metering water for mortar mixture.

The optional accessories available ensure all options are possible in keeping with the varying user needs.

Design and construction conform to relevant European safety standards.
